CATALOGUE 19
SUMMER 2023/2024

“It was the best of times, it was the worst of times, it was the age of wisdom, it was the age of foolishness, it was the epoch of belief, it was the epoch of incredulity, it was the season of Light, it was the season of Darkness, it was the spring of hope, it was the winter of despair, we had everything before us, we had nothing before us, we were all going direct to Heaven, we were all going direct the other way – in short, the period was so far like the present period, that some of its noisiest authorities insisted on its being received, for good or for evil, in the superlative degree of comparison only.”

A Tale of Two Cities, Charles Dickens.

MERRY CHRISTMAS AND HAPPY NEW YEAR

Welcome to our summer catalogue for 2023-2024. We hope you enjoy browsing and find something unique for your collection, a book that is immensely satisfying to read, one that is beautiful to contemplate, or indeed the perfect gift for someone that shares your love of books.

There is poetry and art, religion and regicide, history and heroes...well one hero in particular: Bond. James Bond. See pages 13-15 for the Ian Fleming first editions or pop into Charlotte street for your reading copies and Christmas stocking fillers.

Richard Chiswell's 1687 folio edition of The Eikon Basilike, or King's Book, can be found on p.16. For those unfamiliar it is said to be the spiritual autobiography of King Charles I, written just before his execution on the 30th January, 1649.

We've noticed that multi-volume sets still have their champions and for these collectors we have included two extremely handsome sets. The first is of the poetry and prose of Robert Burns (p.7) in a red morocco binding with the original owner's initials to each spine and the second contains the works of Edmund Spenser in beautifully marbled paper covered boards with vellum tips (p.8).

For the Blake appreciator's we have a lovely copy of The Book of Ahania (Trianon Press) and a second edition of Swinburne's essay (with hand coloured plates), the first critical book on Blake (both p.18).

Early disability activist Helen Keller's visit to Queensland is documented in a 1948 pamphlet printed in Brisbane (p.20) and on the same page the horticulturist will find a 1905 handbook on pruning roses.

Prices in the catalogue range from $20 (ASLANIDES, Timoshenko. Australian Things, p. 5) to $10,000 (DICKENS, Charles. A Tale of Two Cities, p.13). There is ephemera and marginalia: see Wheeler's historical account of the India under British rule with a note from Edw. Balfour pointing to errors of fact (p.21), and Billy Jones' red felt pen bleeding through the final page in his copy of Rudi Krausmann's Flowers of Emptiness (p.5).

All in all this summer catalogue presents our usual eclectic offering, with an emphasis on poetry, the language of the soul.

As we approach the year's end we are mindful of our privilege in meeting so many book lovers, book collectors and passionate librarians each and every day of our working lives.

Thank you for the many conversations, elucidations and shared moments of delight. And of course, thank you for buying our books. You are the reason we exist.

Amor Librorum Nos Unit

The love of books unites us.

Best wishes,

Dawn, Hamish, Pete, Thomas and Teneca.

The Great Forgetting.

Canberra: Aboriginal Studies Press, 1996. First Edition. Softcover : pp. [vi] xi [xii] [1] 160 [4 blank] : 39 illustrations by Bevan Hayward (Pooaraar) : pale blue pictorial covers. Scatter of foxing to block top edge; tail of spine gently pushed. Near fine.

In 2016, twenty years after his collaboration with Pooaraar was first published, and not long after it had gone out of print, Geoff Page reflected in an essay published by Meanjin on what had changed in those intervening years. He concluded that the Great Forgetting was over, but a Great Unwillingness remained:

*"I think it is fair to say that, in the past 20 years, recognition of what really happened on the pastoral frontier in the nineteenth century has been achieved (there are few dissenting voices these days) but a willingness to face the implications of such recognition is harder to obtain. This is not a matter of historical 'guilt' and/or holding Anglo-Celtic Australians responsible for the misdeeds of their forebears, but it is a recognition that 'settler' Australia has always been, and is still, based on Indigenous dispossession." 5.0 L Poems.

No #4 of 153 copies hand sewn and signed by the author.

Northville, Michigan: Sun Dog Press, 1991. Small square chapbook : 32pp : card cover in red, black and white with narrow gatefold over stiff black card endpapers. Designed by Allen Berlinski and hand sewn and signed by Richmond. A good copy. Spine lightly abraded, two patches on the upper cover where the paper has been lifted, minor soiling to the covers.

Steve Richmond (1941 – 2009) was an American poet from Southern California whose notoriety comes primarily from his association with the mid-career of poet Charles Bukowski in the 1960s. He is also associated with the "Meat School" of American poetry, known for a direct, tough and masculine style of writing. Other "Meat School" poets were Bukowski, William Wantling and Ann Menebroker. Bukowski helped mentor Richmond early in his career.

Richmond developed a unique style based on the rhythms of gagaku (雅楽, literally "elegant music"), the Shinto-influenced classical music performed at the Japanese imperial court. He claimed to have written more than 8,000 gagaku poems over the course of his career. This edition contains twelve. \(#1395\) $50.00

RICHMOND, Steve.
Aphrodite Rising.

No. #63 of 200 numbered copies.

E. Palo Alto, Ca: Guerilla Poetics Books, 1990. First Edition. Soft illustrated covers : 64pp : black endpapers : poems set in 10pt Courier with titles set in 14 pt New Century Schoolbook. Typesetting was done on a 512KE Mac by S Jacobsen with master copies lasered by Dr. Susan Cumberledge. The books were assembled and folded by hand, and stapled into signatures, and manually bound, book by book. [from the colophon] A very good copy with just a hint of toning to the spine and outer edges of the covers and two watery black ink marks to the foot of the title page.

Also containing several of his gagaku poems, this copy belonged to Qld based poet and visual artist Billy Jones, renowned for writing in his books in colourful capitalised letters. This copy has escaped Jones' [often lurid] marginalia; the only hint of his ownership in the spilled ink on the title page.

LOCKLIN, Gerald.
The old mongoose and other poems.

PRESENTATION copy inscribed by Locklin to Queensland based poet and artist Billy Jones.

Long Beach, Ca. Pearl Editions, 1994. Small press poetry chapbook : stapled : 36pp : soft pale green covers with gatefold flaps, lettered in gold and black. A near fine copy. The lettering on the upper cover is slightly oxidised and lower corners lightly bumped. The inscription to Jones reads:

Billy, / Thanks for the copies of/ your outstanding book, which / I'm enjoying. Here are a/ couple of my recent ones. / All best wishes / [signature] / 5/31/95.

Locklin and Jones appear to have had an epistolary relationship conducted through the exchange of their poetry. Jones was renowned for writing in his books in colourful capitalised letters. As with most of the inscribed books in his collection, this copy escaped his marginalia; the only hint of his ownership in Locklin's use of the familiar, "Billy".

Newspaper article on book loosely inserted; front spine corner at head bumped; faint scratching to spine. Very good.

Saba is considered one of the major contemporary Italian poets. His themes include Trieste, its sailors and people, his troubled youth, his wife, daughter, and friends, human suffering, animals, and nature. His verse is tinged with melancholy and pessimism, and enriched with a deep feeling for the world's misery, and eagerness for warm human contacts. – Jewish Virtual Library.

LITERATURE AND LETTERS

DICKENS, Charles.
A Tale of Two Cities

With illustrations by H.K. Browne. London: Chapman and Hall, 1859. First Edition, First Printing. Octavo : pp. (6) viii (1, list of plates) (1, blank) (1) 2-254 : 16 plates by H.K. Browne ("Phiz") including frontis and vignette title : pale green e.p.s : half leather over marbled boards : five raised bands and gilt lettering to spine. Slight rubbing to boards; plates with occasional closed tears to edges, not affecting images; historical expert cleaning to some leaves; contemporary ownership signature. An exceptionally clean copy, handsomely bound. Near fine.

First edition, first issue, bound from the parts, of Dickens' second historical novel. It has proved one of his most enduring works - a tale of self-sacrifice set against the backdrop of the French Revolution. This was the last of Dickens' books to be illustrated by H.K. Browne ("Phiz"), with 16 plates engraved by him. "Browne, for 23 years responsible for all the etchings which had so successfully embellished these [Dickens'] books, produced his last drawings for the present work...Bradbury and Evans, the printers of all and publishers of five of Dickens' works as issued in monthly parts, had ceased to act in this dual capacity after the completion of Little Dorrit...[resulting] in the return of Chapman and Hall as publishers of this and all succeeding works" (Hatton and Cleaver, 333).

Originally published as a serial in Dickens' weekly journal All the Year Round, issued in eight parts from June to December 1859. First issue, with page 213 misnumbered and the signature mark "b" on the List of Plates and all other first edition points as called for. [Smith I:13; Hatton and Cleaver 333-42; Gimbel A143] (#3923) $10,000.00

RELIGION & REGICIDE

KNOXE, John.

The Historie of the Reformatioun of Religioun within the Realm of Scotland,

Containing the Manner and be quhat Persons the Lycht of Chrystis Evangell has bein manifested unto this Realme, after that horribill and universal Defectioun from the Treu, whiche has come by the Means of that Romane Antichryst. Together with The Life of John Knoxe the Author, and several curious pieces wrote by him; particularly that most rare and scarce one, The first Blast of the Trumpet against the Monstrous Regiment of Women, and a large Index and Glossary. Taken from the original manuscript in the University of Glasgow, and compared with other ancient copies. Edinburgh: Robert Fleming and Company, 1732. Folio : pp. [6] [30, The Publishers to the Reader and Mr Buchanan's Preface] lvi, 488 [20, The Glossary and Index] : portrait frontispiece : full leather with centre panel of mottled calf surrounded by a blind tooled double border with corner embellishments : six raised bands to the spine : red leather title panel lettered in gilt. [ESTC T92830]. Boards marked, corners pressed; top joint cracking and all joints separating slightly at the head and tail. Very good. Leather bound.

John Knox (1514–1572) was the leader of Scottish reformation and founder of the Presbyterian Church in Scotland. His history was written in five books between 1559 and 1566. The fifth book was first published in David Buchanan's 1644 edition of Knox's History. The unknown editor of this 1732 edition attributes the fifth book to Buchanan himself.

Eikon Basilike. The Works of King Charles the Martyr: with a collection of Declarations, Treaties, and other Papers, concerning the differences betwixt His said Majesty and His two Houses of Parliament.

With a History of His Life, as also His Tryal and Martyrdom. London: Ric. Chiswell at the Rose and Crown, 1687. Second Edition. Folio : pp. [xii] 720 [4, Historical Table of both parts] : engraved frontispiece and title : typographical title : 3 double page engravings attached to stubs (one closely trimmed) ; mid-late 20th century cloth binding and e.p.s : red leather title panel to spine with gilt lettering. Very occasional spot; tidemarks to tail of some gatherings; single 2mm wormhole rom p. 161 through to the rest of the block, closed tear to margin of p.161. Very good. cloth.

The Eikon Basilike, or King's Book, is said to be the spiritual autobiography of King Charles I, written just before his execution on the 30th January, 1649. Several editions preceded the folio edition of 1687 and it is believed copies may have been available as early as the day of his death. These early editions were banned, but many printers took the risk to produce copies, some of them quite small and discreet in order to be easily hidden. Richard Chiswell's folio edition is of grander proportions increasing the sombre tone of its contents. Red type is used to effect for the printing of the sentence and the names of the persons present when the King was condemned.

NB This is an oversized and heavy item (12.68kg) and will require extra postage.

No. 557 of 1500. Sir Edwin Landseer Lutyens OM KCIE PRA FRIBA (1869 – 1944) was an English architect known for imaginatively adapting traditional architectural styles to the requirements of his era. He designed many English country houses, war memorials and public buildings, and stands alongside Christopher Wren as one of England's greatest architects. Lutyens' prolific output was first edited and published a decade after his death by which time his designs appeared "old fashioned" to the public. By 1984 public taste had changed once more and Lutyens work was considered worthy of this (monumental) limited edition reprint.
